

The industry's most complete range of RRR plant-based vitamin E for health-enhancing food and dietary supplements.

Twice the Bioavailability. Consumer Preferred. The Natural Advantages of Covitol and Vitapherole.

For today's consumers, vitamin E is among the most popular supplements, and they vastly prefer plant-based vitamin E over synthetic options. Plant-based vitamin E is scientifically recognized to offer twice the bioavailability of its synthetic counterpart. Vitamin E is an essential nutrient with a recommended daily allowance (RDA) and well-established health benefits.

Kensing is the world leader in pure plant-based vitamin E, delivering products that are sourced from plant-derived raw materials, are clean-label compatible, and backed by a strong commitment to quality, consistency, safety, and sustainability.

RRR Plant-based Vitamin E

The Benefits of Covitol® & Vitapherole®

Vitamin E is an essential nutrient and the body's principal fat-soluble antioxidant. It is a powerful scavenger of free radicals. These destructive molecules, if left unchecked, contribute to aging and age-related diseases.

Proven Bioavailability – U.S. Academy of Sciences has officially recognized that plant-based vitamin E is twice as potent and is retained twice as well as synthetics.

High Purity – Superior quality, higher purity, and lower contaminants compared to competitors.

Natural Label – In line with consumers' preferences for all-natural products.

Covitol and Vitapherole offer the industry's most complete line of plant-based vitamin E for health-enhancing supplements, foods, and drinks. They have the highest standards of product safety standards and meet regulatory requirements in all major global markets.

Comprehensive Range – The largest and broadest portfolio of products available in a wide variety of clear viscous oils and free-flowing, spray dried, adsorbed powders, and crystalline powders.

Outstanding Product Quality – Stringent quality control combined with excellent application characteristics.
